WE NOMINATE

the 50-plus Princetonians whose deep concern for their fellow human beings is making possible one of this community's most distinctive and little-publicized service programs—the Gray Lady Service of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. Continuing and strengthening traditions that trace their origins back to the closing months of World War I, these trained volunteer workers at both the nearby Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and the U.S. Army Hospital at Fort Dix are carrying forward projects dedicated to the comfort and recovery of the sick, the injured and the terribly handicapped. In 1956 alone they “put in” nearly 5,000 woman-hours of duty, the equivalent of some 625 eight-hour workdays.

Indicative of the capabilities and enthusiasm of the Gray Ladies is the pilot program a team of ten has recently undertaken at the N.P. Institute where an overburdened and undermanned professional staff can do only so much. Three afternoons a week for the next six months—in one of the cottages at the Institute—these women will be supplementing the efforts of medical specialists. Their mission, that will be documented by day-to-day entries in case records, will be to determine just what can be accomplished by volunteer activity in helping “activate idle mental patients” for whom circumstances have blanked out all interests, all social relationships, all sense of participation and achievement.

This is the kind of challenging venture which demands infinite understanding and patience, for the unfortunates are all adult women and constitute a cross-section of continued-care patients who are largely resigned to what one volunteer terms the “sheer helplessness of killing time.” And there is no easy, or general, approach to problems that must be individualized. It means starting out with pages from coloring books, handwork at the most primitive levels or listening to records or simply “admiring and talking.” An early progress report noted that a patient “who had done nothing but sit around for two years” asked for a crayon the other day and “today asked if she could have a green rather than a red crayon.”

Before qualifying for special duty at the N.P.I., or regular afternoon or evening assignments at Fort Dix, the Gray Ladies—one of the 16 component parts of the local Red Cross organization—must meet stringent standards of qualification and must also complete prescribed training courses. At the Institute, for instance, six mornings of lectures by staff members are followed by a six-week “familiarization program” that permits prospective workers to rotate through the various departments, from the library and offices to the children's units. At all turns, the emphasis is on the flexibility of Gray Lady Service which is designed to provide those intangibles, or extras, that lift the individual patient's morale and thereby speed his return to normalcy.

For insisting that “our work helps us realize just how lucky we are”; for seeking out opportunities for service, particularly in those institutions where need is everywhere; for extending to others the kind of friendship that is a hallmark of the American way of life; these volunteers are Town Topics' nominees for

PRINCETON DERBY

"Dark Horses" Favored. Perhaps the richest stakes in Princeton political competition will be on this year by "dark horses." That much was quite evident this week as Republican and Democratic trainers alike jockeyed for favorable positions and refused to name the men who will make the odds—before race time.

In the Borough, where the mayoralty and two Council posts will be decided in what could be a down-to-the wire meeting, neither party could come up with its entries before Town Topics' mid-week deadline. Actual post-time for the April primary election will be 4 p.m. this Thursday, and spokesmen for both political groups have guaranteed that they will offer full slates by that zero hour.

From the GOP stables, those "in-the-know" were still talking about Councilman Tristram B. Johnson for the top spot, but, beyond the mayor's berth, they weren't mentioning anyone's name — and they weren't even saying, "Johnson," in capital letters. The perennial names of ex-Councilmen Raymond F. Male and Richard W. Colman were even-money bets in the Democrats camp, but no one knew for sure at this point — at least, he wouldn't admit it — and "dark horses" seemed to be developing into favorites.

To coin an old track phrase, Charles R. Erdman Jr., former Princeton mayor and elder statesman of the GOP hereabouts, revealed that getting worthy candidates was "like pulling teeth." He acknowledged that his party might have two-thirds of its Borough ticket lined up already but he said there would be no definite news until Thursday—when the full card can be presented.

What Will Weather Be? Able to see the muddy track ahead in the Borough, the Democrats paused this week to announce their entries in Princeton Township, where two important Committee seats are at stake. They will back James W. Foley, 282 North Harrison Street, and William W. Marvel, 285 Western Way, against R. Kenneth Fairmon and Stanley C. Smoyer, the Republicans' previously-announced standard-bearers.

In announcing the Township candidates, Richard A. Lester, president of the Princeton Democratic Club (see Mailbox, page 11), observed: "Jim Foley has demonstrated his interest in Township affairs by regularly attending the public meetings of the Township Committee each month for the past three years; he has had wide experience in meeting with governing boards in other communities." Mr. Lester added: "Bill Marvel's record in the field of government speaks for itself; his experience in public affairs makes him an outstanding candidate for public affairs."

For those without the proper racing forms, the Democratic chieftain reported that Mr. Foley is assistant sales manager of a machine tool firm in New York, where he went to work following Marine service in World War II and graduation from Princeton University in 1948. Mr. Marvel, a 1941 graduate of Princeton, taught political science at Princeton and Yale, worked for the U.S. government at war and in peace, and now is an executive associate of the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

While most Princetonians awaited the feature event, the two parties tried to divert attention through sideshows of reasonable significance. The Republican Club of Princeton again reminded voters that Senator Wayne Dumont Jr., GOP candidate for governor who defeated Governor Meyner in a state senatorial race six years ago, will speak at a Republican rally at 8:30 p.m. This Friday in Borough Hall. Democratic stalwarts made much of the fact that 200 partisans "pleased and surprised" Gov. and Mrs. Meyner by congregating for a special "welcome home" party last Saturday at the Nassau Tavern.

MEN AT WORK

Parking Is the Problem. Six weeks have passed since Public Service reported officially that it will vacate most of its premises at the strategic southeast corner of Witherspoon and Wiggins Streets and, though the subject has been out of the news during the interim, men have been working on the problem. Advised that the land will not be freed for other usage until the first of 1958, or at the earliest in October or November, Borough leaders nonetheless have kept close tabs on current developments.

Mayor Sturges said this week, and presumably his Council is in full agreement, that the city fathers do not want to earmark a sizeable sum of money for purchase. —Continued on Page 2 chase of the Public Service land, then have the town set aside for its next eight to 10 months. Yet, if the Borough is to be granted the first possible opportunity to buy the important acreage (apparently a utility promise), it must consider ways and means of raising the money rapidly when the green light is flashed.

While it is known that the mayor has already conferred on several occasions with Public Service officials in Newark, and his Advisory Committee on Parking and Traffic is giving the entire property careful consideration, no one has indicated positively that the Borough will be prepared to pay a big price, presuming the utility asks for one. Council members have observed, however, that they will do a lot of negotiating and figuring before taking a chance on losing the municipal parking yard off Spring Street, part of the Public Service parcel.

From the downtown rumor-passers, word has come to the effect that the Borough might be happy to see some large outfit— for example, PMI or Grand Union—purchase the land, then turn around and resell only the Spring Street area to the town. Other observers, closer to Borough Hall, have calculated that fear of stringent zoning requirements or future condemnation may scare away the big buyers early in the game and leave the

PERSONALITIES

Ernest F. Drake, 23 William Street, the 17-year-old "young man" who was honored during the past week by his fellow firefighters for no less than 60 years of loyal service to Mercer Engine Company No. 3 (see story, photo, page 14). When President McKinley was a new resident in the Well House, Mr. Drake was a full-fledged carpenter—a trade he followed well until his retirement in 1949—and, long before many of Princeton's other active firemen of 1957 were born, he was busy tiling blazes here.

Mrs. David S. York, 85 Overbrook Drive, a devoted member of the Second Presbyterian Church who, as chairman of this year's World Day of Prayer services, will be responsible for two adult programs and one children's program, to be held on Friday at her church (for details, see page 22).

William H. Snow, sometime resident of Princeton (Russell Road), Vineyard Haven, Mass., and Sarasota, Fla., who continued to demonstrate his recognized versatility as an actor by following rave notices at "Sakini," the chipper comic in "Teshome of the August Moon," with an assignment to play the leading romantic (and singing) role in the Sarasota Players' forthcoming production of "Kiss Me Kate."

ROUND-UP

Town Topics, beginning its 12th year with this issue, now has a press-run of some half-million copies yearly... its weekly circulation of 9,417 up more than 130% from its original figure of March 15, 1946 ranks it in the top tenth of the nation's weekly newspapers... Three more Shopping Center merchants have signed complaints against two sisters who reportedly cashed a series of bogus checks at Center stores, and trial in Trenton for the visiting housewives, once released on bond, is expected in the spring... Numbers NOT in the news: Marvin's telephone, which will remain unlisted to afford Governor and Mrs. Meyner reasonable peace and quiet in the new executive mansion.

Asked about the immediate future of the middle of Princeton's post office, allegedly still clogged due to some mysterious New York strike, Postmaster Charles Murray responded, "Your guess is as good as mine"... Inasmuch as our guess isn't too good right now, we'll hope for the year 1957—ship splints are setting in... A more specific date is 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at Borough Hall, when William W. Golden will answer charges that he sold liquor to a pair of minors last December 18 at Golden's Tavern, 254 Nassau Street... Speaking of dates, the Borough budget was announced officially without a dissenting voice on Tuesday, so now we'll wait and see if the Township comes through with equal ease at 8 p.m. this Thursday in Township Hall.

ONE IF BY LAND, TWO IF BY SEA — THREE, IF IT'S TEA: The 20th century Paul Revere who galloped into town Saturday might well have rewritten the famous poem about his midnight ride. Reenacting Revere's trip from Boston to Philadelphia to tell the colonists about the well-known party in Boston, he ran smack dab into a tea at Ye Olde Nassau Tavern—being given by Princeton Democrats in honor of Governor and Mrs. Meyner. Appropriately, Rider Revere produced a scroll from the Governor of Massachusetts to the Governor of New Jersey. Democratic Club president Richard A. Lester (left) views the proceedings with approval, since they served to publicize his club's activities here considerably more than the ride's real purpose — promotion for Philadelphia's new $15,000,000 Sheraton Hotel. SENTENCE FACED Schluter Pleads Guilty, Fredric E. Schluter of Titusville, formerly of Princeton, has changed his plea of innocent to "guilty" at the eight-week-old trial of the former Thermoid Company executive in New York.

Mr. Schluter, along with two other executives, has been charged with conspiracy to evade federal corporate taxes and with filing false statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission in each of the three years from 1951 to 1953.

The change in Mr. Schluter's plea came after he collapsed in the corridor of the courtroom last week and was taken to and from court in a wheelchair. Sentence in the case will be imposed March 19.

Three Thermoid executives, including Mr. Schluter, are liable to sentences totaling 11 years in prison and fines adding up to $40,000 each.

"U" STORE GETS O.K.

Zoning Variance Studied. After weighing carefully an application by Princeton University's trustees for zoning variances to permit construction of a new "U" Store on University Place, the Borough Zoning Board this week indicated it will recommend approval of the bid. No official action was endorsed immediately, but "rough-drafting" of such a recommendation by the board served notice of approval of the bid. No official action was endorsed immediately, but "rough-drafting" of such a recommendation by the board served notice of approval in short order.

The trustees, represented by Edward A. MacMillan, superintendent of grounds and buildings at the University, displayed plot blueprints and preliminary building plans at last Thursday's session of the zoning group. Mr. MacMillan also showed proof that University Place residents had been notified concerning the meeting, and, since no one appeared to object to the application, board members were convinced the proposed "U" Store has received the public's blessing.

Specifically, an application for zoning variances was necessary because the preliminary building plans reveal that setback footage and open space around the structure do not fall within the minimum requirements of the Borough's zoning ordinance. Also, there will be very little parking space immediately adjacent to the new store.

In the "rough draft" of the recommendation expected to be passed shortly, the zoning board has noted that approval of the variances is justified due to the peculiar size and shape of the lots

Involved, the fact that the various "will not substantially impair the general purposes of the zoning ordinance and the general zoning plan," and the fact that public health and public good are not hurt by the endorsement. DIPLOMATIC BATTLE

Skirmish in Princeton, "Prospect" long the home of Princeton's presidents, made news in a new sense last week when a summons was served there on Dr. James B. Conant, former High Commissioner of U. S. Affairs in Germany. The ex-president of Harvard, here to deliver the Stanford Little lectures, was served notice of a $150,000 libel suit brought against him by Judge William Clark of 12 Battle Road. Judge Clark (a Harvard alumnus) was chief justice of the U. S. Commission courts during Dr. Conant's regime in Germany. Serving the summons through a United States marshal a half-hour before Dr. Conant made his final appearance Thursday afternoon in Alexander Hall, Judge Clark had a 600-word statement for the press defining his feelings on the matter. He charged Dr. Conant with libel in discussing his qualifications as a judge, indicating that suit had been filed in New Jersey for the alleged offense because in Germany Dr. Conant had "taken advantage of diplomatic immunity."

Judge Clark commented, "I hope that this litigation may accomplish what Dr. Conant refused to accomplish—namely, to bring an end to the ill-treatment by the German judicial and police authorities of our American nationals in Western Germany. Otherwise, it is difficult to see for exactly what we have fought two wars against the Germans."

Stating frankly that he believes Dr. Conant libeled him "irreparable" because he has objected to the oppression against his fellow American citizens in Germany by West German officials, Mr. Clark declared: "As the Federal Courts do not permit dissent verdicts, it has been necessary to sue for substantial damages. Any money recovered will be donated to Harvard University for the establishment of scholarships particularly for the study of international affairs."

Borough Court Action, Malcolm Muir, Jr., 8 Newlin Road, had his license revoked for two years and was fined $225 by Magistrate Paul R. Chesbro Tuesday on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

He entered a plea of guilty. Patrolman Stanley Donald had arrested Mr. Muir after the latter's car had swerved from Nassau Street near St. Paul's School and struck three parking meters.

Others fined for various violations were Pat V. Andrews, Ridge Road, Kingston, speeding, $10; Mrs. Hilda Tremont, 2 Harris Road, passing a "stop" sign, $12; and Ronald Roberts, 52 Jefferson Road, driving with expired plates, $10.

Brawl in Cafe. Besides winning case owner Felix Cenerino, the complainant, that he should remove his tavern's pool table to avoid illegal gambling and future trouble. Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber imposed a fine of $15 against Leon Redding, 37, of Trenton, for fighting and refusing to leave. William Burrell, 49, of 18 Leigh Avenue, charged with the same offense. The two defendants engaged in a brawl at Cenerino's Cafe, 51 Leigh, after a bet on a pool game and after Mr. Redding had hit Mr. Burrell on the head with a glass of beer.

In other cases Tuesday evening, the magistrate ordered the following fines: Lester Riddick, 23, of 121 Birch Avenue, $25 for careless driving and $15 for driving without a license; Woodrow M. Wirsig, 40, of 682 Ewing Street, $25 for speeding; and Anthony A. Tully, 20, of Princeton University, $25 for driving with an expired Connecticut license rather than a legal New Jersey license.

Business Group Picks 12. The Princeton Business Association has selected its board of trustees for the coming year. A new treasurer, Meyer Goldstein, was named at the same time.

The 12 businessmen who will serve on the board for the coming year are Eric Mihan, Leonard La Finca, Edmund Clobosney, Murray Abelson, Martin J. Rody, Edmund Cook, Harold Ostroff, Merrill Zinder, J. Turner Jr., Benjamin Brown, William Secoman and Harry Hurvitz. Louis L. Quicke, who was chosen president last week, announced that a vice-president would be elected at the next meeting.

Exchange Fellows Coming. Fourteen Eisenhower Exchange Fellows from as many different nations in the "free world" will come here this weekend to begin a ten-day seminar on life in an American college town.

The program permits outstanding men who have demonstrated ability "in the field of their country's greatest need" to spend ten months in the U.S. gaining practical experience that will broaden their understanding of this country.

Men whose occupations range from textile research in Korea and civil engineering in Iraq to steel manufacturing in the U.S. and the study of atomic energy in the Philippines, will hear a series of addresses on education, industry and government during their stay at the Princeton Inn. They will also participate in a number of field trips to the Institute for Advanced Study, the Firestone Library, Forrestal Research Center, Borough Hall, the RCA Laboratories and the Lawrenceville School.

AH, WHAT MORTALS WE FOOLLS BE! Tinka Crawford, as the mortal, Alkmena, and Irving Van Zandt, as the god-with-a-heart, Jupiter, play leading romantic roles in "Amphitryon 38," the Princeton Community Players' comedy which will serve as the baptismal production for the group's new Playmill on Alexander Street. For more about the popular Lunt-Fontanne vehicle, now nearing the dress-rehearsal stage at the Playmill, see News of the Theatres.

News Of The THEATRES

MCCARTER THEATRE
"Total Theatre" on Display.
Princetonians witnessed a theatrical rarity Saturday night: the McCarter audience, not far from capacity, enjoyed a production good enough in every sense to deserve the connotation of "masterpiece," yet the theatre was frequently as quiet as if audience participation had been by television.

The occasion was the Madeleine Renaud-Jean Louis Barrault production of Moliere's classic comedy, "Le Misanthrope." Audience reaction was largely inaudible for a variety of reasons, but the decibels recorded by prolonged curtain-call applause at evening's end left no doubt about the degree of appreciation for what had transpired.

Very obviously, the fact that the Renaud-Barrault Company staged the production in its native French closed out a major portion of these present. No means of measuring was available, but it might be accurate to estimate that not one in five of the McCarter's audience absorbed every word of the beautifully-spoken dialogue that often trilled as so much music.

Secondly, Moliere's humor is not broad but satirical; his comedy is not pure, but leans strongly toward tragic-comedy; his plot situations are virtually non-existent, as he delves deeply into the character and manners of the over-refined society of his time. For those who followed the constant innuendos in the two-hour conversational bout, laughter came in the form of quiet chuckles, with the few moments of theatre-wide merriment reserved for buffoonery on stage—always an international language.

For non-linguists, the reward Saturday night lay in the perfection of the performance—in the great ability of the individual actors and the complete degree of rapport each had with the other. Honors rightly went to M. Barrault in the title role of the "atrabilious lover" and Mme. Renaud as the woman who has him so completely in her power, but the supporting cast is undoubtedly one of the strongest ever to appear in McCarter as it nears the end of its third decade.

Brilliantly costumed, the play leaned strongly in the other direction for its set, with French frugality prevailing over the severely-simple drawing room, sparsely-furnished and painted in gray and white. The result of the total lack of ornateness was that nothing detracted from the smallest gesture of the beautifully-performed production.

Clearcut indication of what the French company (which brought seven other plays to these shores in its repertoire) seeks to achieve is provided in the phrase "total theatre," which has come to be attributed to M. Barrault. He declines it this way—and this is what he achieved:

"Total Theatre" is simply the true and traditional theatre, the one which makes use of man "in his totality": gestures, pantomime, dances, breath, cries, articulation, speech, poetry and singing. In ancient times the dramatic poet was initiated in all these means of expression.

"Thus, he recreated life by means of the Human Being in his —Continued on Page 6

totally, out of which evolved a kind of orchestration for the eye and for the ear, a framework of settings, costumes, props, music, and in our time lights and, if one wishes, projected images. COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Up in the Clouds. Not content to unveil their new Playmill with an easy production and simple staging, the Princeton Community Players will open a six-night run of "Amphitryon 38" on March 24, utilizing an imaginative split-level arena wherein gods and mortals can mingle with intimate flexibility. Veteran John P. Becker will be responsible for the direction of Jean Giraudoux' difficult sophisticated comedy, while Helen Van Zandt's creative touch will be seen in the unconventional stage effects.

A distinguished director of radio and television films, Mr. Becker twice received Peabody Awards for his CBS endeavors and recently gained honorable mention at the Milan and Edinburgh film festivals. He admitted, at a rehearsal of the Players' production this week, that directing a few gods and mortals is "somewhat more relaxing" than maneuvering a cast of 4500 around Chicago's Soldiers Field, where he produced a massive pageant for the World Council of Churches two summers ago.

Mrs. Van Zandt, a former associate of Hattie Flanagan at the Vassar Experimental Theatre, has had considerable experience as a scene designer, including such notable McCrister Theatre shows as "Hasten the Day," "The Skin of Our Teeth" and "Dreamboat." She has also starred in several Players' productions, but, in view of the importance of doing one job well for the Playmill debut, she elected to devote all of her skills to staging this time.

Heading the Players' cast for the Giraudoux comedy, in the role made famous on Broadway by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, will be Irving Van Zandt and Elaine Crawford. Mr. Van Zandt, well-known to Princeton audiences for his work in "Brogan on Horseback," "The Devil's Disciple," "The Male Animal," "Nights of Wrath" and "Summer and Smoke," will play the anxious but domesticated Jupiter. Miss Crawford, a newcomer to Princeton theatregoers who holds a University of Denver drama degree and has acted in "Ondine" and "Front Page" for the Atlanta Playmakers, will portray the eluding mortal, Alcemena.

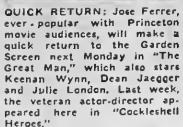

Trevor Brown, playing Mercury, winged messenger of the gods, also will make the Playmill debut, his Princeton debut, but another familiar face will be that of Stuart Duacan, who will appear as Amphitryon. Other members of the cast will be Selly Gray, William Book, Loren Ziesman, James Staseff, Irene Brown and James Graves.

Tickets for "Amphitryon 38" may be obtained at the University Store and Bamberger's, or at the Playmill on Alexander Street prior to each performance. Curtain time for the S. N. Bohman adaptation of this affair, for one of the gods will be 8:30 each night, and, for the first time in Players' history, the run will split over two weekends—March 24, 25, 16 and March 21, 22, 23.

THEATRE INTIME

New Measure for "Measure." Princeton University's undergraduate thespians have done strange things to William Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure," the current Theatre Intime offering at Players' Theatre, but the Princeton interpretation is a fascinating one and the lively production is generally appealing. Some straight-lined Shakespearean devotees may challenge the liberties taken by Director Morton Goolde and his company; yet, Intime efforts have often proved more exciting and more enjoyable because of their meanderings and "Measure" is no exception.

For the remainder of this week, Princeton theatregoers will be able to catch the mid-winter In-time play on campus, and, if they decide on it to quench their thirst during an otherwise dry stage week, they will find the old comedy rewarding as well as refreshing. Tickets for this Thursday evening's performance ($1.50 and $1.20) and the final performances Friday and Saturday nights ($2.00 and $1.80) may be purchased at the University Store (5414) or the Murray box office.

Though an imaginative combination of modern and Elizabethan dress, clever lighting and staging, and, by putting the King's tongue in check quite frequently, Mr. Goolde and his collaborators have given the oft-titled comedy new sparkle, squeezing a lot of laughs from the heavily smug scenes and, at the same time, blending them with the tragic implications of the play. Perhaps Shakespeare would be upset by the unusual conception, though he would certainly admit most of his ideas are clearly and interestingly exposed.

Gerald Rainbourn, aided principally by Juliana Cuyler, is responsible for the distinctive costuming, which ranges from togas and Elizabethan garments to robes, trench coats and something that looked very much like a zoot suit. It is quite a mixture, but one which really doesn't offend, while emphasizing the author's points. Mr. Rainbourn also teams with William Pierce for the make-up effects, complementing the costumes, and he supervises the simple but eye-catching settings, featuring a functional series of rotating backdrops. H. Hoyt Lacy '30, technical advisor, handles the lighting problems with good results.

In the acting department, refugees from the Triangle Club dominate this consistently able Intime effort, and they make the production extremely worthwhile. Fred Wardenburg and Bruce Rabbino, recently elected president and vice-president of Triangle for 1957-58, are particularly impressive in the more serious roles of Vincento and Angelo, respectively, while John Ewadinger, a Triangle veteran marking his Intime debut, and Jim Harder, an Army veteran who has seen considerable Intime as well as Triangle duty, are first-rate Shakespearean comers as Lucio and Pompey, in the usual order. FOR A BETTER KIND OF DRY CLEANING

IT'S NEW To Us

A Newcomer. The Shopping Center Mall has a bright new store for moderately priced women's clothes, and with spring making overtures now and then, it's a good time to make the grand tour of Norman Roberts' Stock and pick out a new wardrobe for yourself.

Begin with a suit. Budget models of wool and dacron are $15.95. Or order black wool with a long slim shawl collar, self buttons and a straight kick-pleat skirt—simple in cut and a lovely color for spring: choose a rose mauve if you prefer, or a pale champagne beige. Jackets are boxy or fitted.

Spring coats start at $25 and rise up to $50 at Norman Roberts. A tweedy fabric in brilliant coral pink makes a collarless coat with dolman sleeves. At the opposite end of the scale—rutilant navy faille with a pale grey lining in an abstract print.

If you wear half sizes, Norman Roberts has them from 14½ to 24½. Here's a steel blue rayon with sprays of light grey flowers, adroitly cut to fit the half size figure. Gloria Swanson's "Forever Young" line has dresses with dusters ($17.98). There are pastels like the pink dress with touches of embroidery and fag-goling.

Sportswear is a big line with Norman Roberts, and there are more skirts, Bermudas, slacks, blazers and shirts than you could imagine. Skirts are full as a blooming rose, or straight as a stem, in polka-dots, stripes and plain pastels. Cotton rib skirts add a new touch, and there are jumpers in the same fabric. Plaid cotton by Galey and Lord makes skirts, Bermudas and shirts to mix endlessly.

Creamy white cotton knit has been used in a cable stitch straight skirt that has a matching short-sleeved top with classic rod-and-blue-trimmed V neck. A short-sleeved cardigan to match has brass buttons.

For dress, juniors would like a black silk cut on Empire lines with a white and black polka-dot scarf folded over the neckline. A white linen-like sheath has a bolero trimmed, like the dress, in red, embroidered with a latticed edge. Coffee lace falls in graceful tiers from the Empire waist of a black sheath (similar style in black lace).

Shirtwaist dresses are periwinkle blue, pale blue or aqua cotton, some with ruffled bosoms like a sissy shirt. These dresses start at $9.98.

Raincoats in aqua with black velvet collar, or tweed with an all-weather look will carry you through a spring shower. A black water-repellent faille clutch rain coat disguises its functionality very well indeed—costs $14.95. Accessories at Norman Roberts.

Clean and Dry. Philco's spring gift to the housewife is the new Philco-Bendix "Duomatic," a magnificent instrument that will wash and dry your clothes while you sit in the living-room munching chocolates. We saw a Duomatic at J. Percy Van Zandt in Blawenburg. A pleasantly domestic note among the tractors and milking machines.

Available for either gas or electricity, this Duomatic is slightly larger than a Bendix washer, but small enough to be useful in the average laundry, kitchen, or utility room. We expect that next year's model will also remove the dry clothes, fold them, carry them upstairs and lay them neatly away.

Philco-Bendix' complete line, consisting of 14 new washers and dryers, (choice of tumble or agitator washers), is available at Van Zandt's. They may also buy one of the new Philco freezers, in upright or chest models, or the "Super Marketer" which is a full refrigerator on top and a full freezer below. Comes in sizes 11.9 to 15.8 cubic feet. You may have an upright freezer by Philco as small as 11.4 or as large as 20.2 cubic feet.

If you're counting pennies, Van Zandt will show you the modernized priced Firestone line of home laundry units.

In case you are confused, as we were, by this jumble of familiar brand names, here is the explanation. Last July the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company became a major distributor of Philco radio and TV products.

This spring, Firestone is introducing the Philco-Bendix laundry-freezer-refrigerator line for the first time, and the local dealer is Blawenburg's Mr. Van Zandt.

Old Hand, New Job. The Princeton Music Center on Palmer Square has a new, long-playing repair man. He is Charles Gentilin who has just begun operation as the man in charge of the Basic Center's first full-time repair center.

Mr. Gentilin knows a tube from a transistor. He has been working in radio for the past ten years, six of them as a commercial repair man here in Princeton, and four of them as a repair and maintenance man for radio and electronic equipment in the air force. He will utilize his skills on radio, television, hi-fi equipment and record changers, and he will appear at your door the same day you telephone (1-3404). He promises good workmanship at a moderate price.

MUSIC

In Princeton

AN EXCEPTIONAL TREAT

Octet Full of Good Music. Eight gentlemen from Vienna, as full of good spirits as they are of good music, presented Princeton with an exceptional musical treat at the 14th concert of Series II. The Vienna Octet, composed of first class members of the Vienna Philharmonic, amply rewarded those hardy enough to make their way through driving rain last week to hear this celebrated ensemble.

The enjoyment of the music was not confined to the audience; the performers themselves, full of affection for the works they had selected, played with a warmth and intimacy that could only have resulted from an unrestrained joy in music-making, a true labor of love. Whatever faults one might find in their interpretations, there was no lack of genuine musicianship.

The one truly exciting piece of music on the program was the Brahms' Clarinet Quintet in B Minor. In it, Brahms has found the blue flower of romanticism, unclouded at twilight, imbued with an all-pervasive scent of melancholy and longing. It is an exquisite amalgam of sound and color, with the timbre of the clarinet, shrill and urgent in its higher register, veiled in its low, threading its way through a texture of great complexity.

When the opening measures of the first movement resound in the coda of the last, there is a feeling of finality, a sense of completion which goes far beyond the strictly structural implications of the device. The musician, turned poet, pours out his creative sequence with a nostalgic backward glance, relating his past with his present, but tinged now not with tenderness, but resignation and despair. It is Brahms' most personal expression.

Clarinetist Alfred Bosowsky conceived himself incidentally with the problems of balance which the work presents. The clarinet, at one time or another, is doubled at the octave or two octave by every string in the ensemble. Each combination creates a new quality, and in each instance an adjustment in volume and tone color must be made. Too frequently, Mr. Bosowsky's low tones would be swallowed up by the strings, while his high notes lacked the resonance necessary to crown the climaxes.

Particularly disappointing was the xylophone-like middle section of the Adagio, where above muted tremolo strings the clarinet, forte, dips and rises in excited agitation. There is more drama in the music than was revealed by the performance.

The string quartet, consisting of Willi Bosowsky, and Philipp Mathis, violins; Guenther Breichmeh, viola; and Nikolaus Heubner, cello, was of general excellence. The finest playing came in the third movement, where the combination of precision, clarity, and a somewhat breathless pace served to display Brahms at his most Brahmsian.

The Divertimento for String Quintet by Michael Haydn, with which the program began, is undoubtedly more interesting historically than as a program piece. Brother to Joseph Haydn, Michael once wrote that given the same patronage as his brother, he would "not be behind him."

On the back of the Divertimento one strongly doubts this. There are no surprises of the sort in which Joseph took such delight;

Amateurs to Do Haydn

Thelma Young, soprano; Barbara Hillish, contralto; Richard Sly, tenor; and Padou Shehadi, bass; will be the soloists in Haydn's Theresa Mass on Sunday.

The mass will be sung by the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs, beginning at 5:15 at Miss Fine's School. The singers and the orchestra will be led by Professor Elliot Forbes of the Department of Music at the University.

Supper reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Mackenty Bryan at 1-0453, between 2 and 4:30 p. m. Thursday or Friday.

harmonically and melodically everything proceeds completely according to expectation. The lower strings persistently supply the bass line, and if there is a certain naive charm in the work, there is just as certainly a concomitant ennui.

Another Divertimento, this one of the F Major No. 10 of Mozart, concluded the program. A hanson was substituted for one of the horn parts with no serious consequences, although in these places where the two instruments were not playing in unison, the woodwind was all but lost.

The whole was a thoroughly delightful diversion, full of rococo charm. As they say in Wien, "ganz lustig." Johann Krump, the double bass player who looked as if he had just stepped out of a Dickens novel, found particular favor with the audience.

There were two encores, the Minuet from the Schubert Octet and the Minuet from Haydn's D Major Divertimento. The Schubert was superb, just enough to whet one's appetite for a performance of the complete work.

Next year, perhaps?

CONCERT SATURDAY
Solum to Be Soloist. Mozart's concerto for flute and orchestra in D major, K. 314, will be the major work presented at a concert of the Princeton University Orchestra Saturday at 8.30 p. m. in Alexander Hall on campus. The concert will be presented by the Friends of Music of Princeton with Nicholas Harsanyi conducting. John Solum '57, first flute of the Princeton Symphony, will be the soloist. Stravinsky's "Sole pour Petit Orchestre," No. 1, and excerpts from Handel's oratorio, "Jephtha," will complete the program.

Mr. Solum, a pupil of William Kincaid, has appeared with the University Orchestra several times previously, most recently in November. He was first flute with the Minneapolis Symphony last summer and has been guest soloist on a number of Columbia recordings with Johnny Eaton '57 and his Princetonians.

The orchestra is composed of students from the University, although it also provides an opporunity for qualified musicians from the town to play. The concert is open to the public without charge.

GLEE CLUB RECITAL

Varied Program Planned. German folksongs, madrigals, and three Rodgers and Hammerstein melodies will be featured at a joint recital of the Glee Clubs of Miss Fine's School and the Hun School. The Hun School Glee Club will also sing sections 1 and 11 of Randall Thompson's "Testament of Freedom."

The concert, to be held Sunday at 8 p. m. in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's, is open to the public without charge. The conductors are Miss Amy Kleckner, Miss Fine's, and Thomas Hilbish, the Hun School. Marilyn Davidson and Majia Merzinsky are the accompanists. A dance for the students of the two schools will follow the concert.

MADRIGAL PROGRAM

Sunday Afternoon Songfest. Works by Hans Leo Hassler, a German composer of the late sixteenth century, will be performed by the Princeton Madrigal Group at a concert Sunday afternoon. To start at 3:15 in Procter Hall of the Graduate College, it is sponsored by the Friends of Music. Varied examples of Hassler's secular music will be included, with songs and madrigals in both Italian and German. Works for voices and string quartet will be performed during the second half of the program.

This part of the program will include two motets by Mozart, the "Geistliches Lied," opus 30, by Brahms; Beethoven's "Elegischer Gesang"; and "Pere Wolf" by Edward T. Cone. This last is No. 6 from "Around the Year," a cycle of six songs for madrigal group and string quartet, completed last fall by Mr. Cone in memory of Walter de la Mare.

The Madrigal Group consists of Eleanor W. Holly and Anne Cantor, sopranos; Jacqueline Currette and Kathleen A. Forbes, altos; Charles W. Ayers and Richard S. Weeder, tenors; Thomas H. Byrnes, Jr., Jonathan S. Rend and Peter W. Roudelush, basses.

The instrumentalists are Helen T. Tux and Victoria Potha, violins; Rodney Dennis, viola; and David Wells, violoncello. Like all other concerts sponsored by the Friends of Music, it will be open to the public without charge.

SUIT SETTLED

Princetonian Wins $12,000.
Tristan B. Johnson, 3 Greenholm, who filed a record-setting $2,500, -000 alienation of affection suit in Salt Lake City back in November of 1955, reportedly received $12,000 as the matter was settled out of court this past week. Loser of a relatively small percentage of the original figure is Kesswell Miller 34, grandson of the late noted magnate, Andrew Carnegie, who has resided in Utah since moving from Princeton several years ago.

R. C. McBroom, attorney for Mr. Miller, told the United Press that his client agreed to pay Mr. Johnson "exactly $12,000 to cover attorneys' fees and other costs." Mr. Miller had been charged with using "fraud and improper influence" on Mr. Johnson's former wife "to maliciously and wantonly alienate her affections."

The ex-Mrs. Johnson, known before her marriage as concert singer Helen Harris, now is the wife of Mr. Miller.

Birth List. Princeton Hospital recorded 14 births to community residents last week. Nine were boys and five were girls.

Sons were born to: Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Nicolayson, Cherry Valley Road; Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Lubas, Klidde Road, Harding; Mr. and Mrs. John T. McLoughlin, 49 Allison Road; Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Ting, Mount Lucas Road; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Brokaw, Britton Farm, Plainsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Drummond, Mill Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. James K. Randall, 417-A Devereux Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Damasco, Hightstown Road, Cranbury.

Mr. Labaw has been employed by Acme for over 25 years, first as manager of the store on Witherspoon Street, and later with the new store at the Shopping Center. Mr. Labaw, who is married and has three grown children, lives at 14 Louellen Street in Hopewell. He is a member of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah in Princeton and also belongs to the "Young Couplers' Club in Hopewell."

Post 76 Plans Initiation. Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, will hold a mass initiation ceremony, on Wednesday, March 27, for all members who have not been initiated. The event will mark the post's 38th anniversary, with the initiation taken from Exting. Post No. 314 scheduled to be present for the occasion.

The post's March paper collection is scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Those who wish scrap paper, magazines and cartons collected are asked to have them tied in bundles and placed at the curb.

erocues of the fashion world—little spring coats and suits for children have begun to materialize for them at Allen's Children's Shop, 134 Nassau Street.

Many wash, dressiness coats. Ever know a little girl who didn't look like a princess when she wears one? There is pastel blue, too. If you prefer, These coats ($16.98) have open-work linen collars. White linen also provides the collar for a light grey princess coat. Older girls, size 12 or so, may like a tunic. There's a saucy red tie, freckle blue or a good clear white, all at $16.98.

The grey flannel suit blossoms faithfully again this year. You'll like the pale shade, becoming to young girls, the full pleated skirt and the jacket with its pearl buttons and flap pockets. Some of the small would like a tiny blazer with white rayon cording at all the edges.

It's grey flannel for the men, too. Size six can wear a grey coat for $19.98, or a camel's hair shade if he'd rather. A sports jacket in a bright navy blue is woven with a basket-weave and lined with a striped rayon. Houndstooth tweed makes a very important jacket for size 16 at $15.98.

PALMER SQUARE PLANS

AN IMMEDIATE Expansion Seen. Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., owner of Palmer Square, is working on long range plans for future expansion of the Square, according to George Brakley, president. Mr. Brakley said that the plans will be made in large part on a special study of P.M.I.'s undeveloped property recently completed by Larry Smith & Company, a firm of real estate consultants.

The Smith report is intended only for the use of P.M.I. officials and will not be made public, but Mr. Brakley said that the major recommendations of the report have been adopted as a kind of policy and P.M.I. will proceed along the lines suggested.

"In this respect," Mr. Brakley reported "P.M.I. has under consideration the engagement of a landscape architect who will counsel the Board on specific possibilities and problems. No plans for immediate construction are involved. However, a detailed program for the ultimate use of all available Palmer Square land will be worked out, and particular emphasis will be placed on the possible development of the northwestern portion of the property."

"We now believe that what has previously been regarded as Palmer Square's 'back yard' can become an important retailing area and benefit not only the present retail tenants of P.M.I. but the whole central business district of Princeton," Mr. Brakley said.

"We have also looked ahead to the extent of planning a new building on the lot at the northwest corner of the Square and Palmer Square East, but the cost of materials and labor at the present time have prevented us from proceeding with the project, although we have gone to the extent of having actual architectural plans drawn," Mr. Brakley revealed.

He also said that one of the key points in the Smith report is the possible location of a "major retail tenant" in such a part of Palmer Square as to balance the Nassau Street frontage in business activity. He stressed that no location has been chosen and no details decided on. The next step will be to obtain the necessary technical assistance. "We expect to come up with various alternative possibilities but not necessarily one final plan," Mr. Brakley concluded.

NEW CAMP FOR 'Y'

Popular Site Chosen. Close on the heels of YMCA Week, the Central New Jersey YMCA Camps, Inc., has announced plans for building a "bigger and better" boys and girls' camp than Camp Wilson, which was wiped out by the Delaware River flood of 1955. The proposed camping site, consisting of 307 acres, is located near the Kittatinny Mountains in Warren County, adjoining the Princeton University summer camp at Blairstown.

Although Y camping activities have been limited since the disaster two years ago destroyed the facilities on Marshall's Island, the YMCA has continued all of its other functions. However, since camping under the auspices of the YMCA has been an integral part of the organization since 1885, the Central New Jersey organization is moving ahead with new plans as rapidly as possible.

Site exploration and evaluation were undertaken in New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania, and this effort resulted in the discovery of the selected location. Less than two hours driving time from Princeton, and about four miles north of Blairstown, the existing facilities on the site consist of three houses and two barns with an apartment building, a swimming pool. Physical properties include a stream, and eight and a half-acre lake, three wells, open fields and wooded areas. There is electricity and heat in all existing residence as well as a 5,000-gallon oil tank and an underground gasoline tank with pump.

According to Princeton 'Y' leaders who have studied the site proposals and helped formulate plans, the proposed location would offer opportunities for spring and fall conferences and family camping in addition to summer camping facilities adaptable for both boys and girls up to a capacity of 200. Interested planners from this area are Ralph S. Mason, a trustee of the Trenton 'Y,' and Robert F. Burroughs Jr., Robert C. Miller, C. Edward Christian and Clark, trustees of the Mercer County 'Y'.

time president, keeps it from becoming an all-Triangle triumph with his convincing portrayal of Claudio.

Director Goode, assisted by Michael Glenn, achieves much of his measured "Measure" success from the distaff players who have joined the undergraduate actors. Georgine Hall, with four previous lifetime shows in her biography, is moving and believable as Isabella, and Mary Gonzalez, another lifetime veteran, combines the divergent roles of Mistress Overdone and Francesca in her customary fine form. Newcomer Lois Barry is a most welcome addition as Marianne.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Battle Hymn (Mar. 7-12) is based on the true account of Col. Dean Hess, an Air Force officer with frightful World War II memories who left his Ohio pulpit and went back into a conflict to join in the Korean struggle. Rock Hudson, gaining stature with each new role, contributes a believable portrayal, combining hard-headed fighting with heart-warming aid for a group of unfortunate South Korean orphans. Martha Hyer doesn't face much of a challenge as the colonel's wife, back home in Ohio, but Dan Durvey is fine as a tough but human sergeant, Dan Defore is conspicuous in the part of an Air Force captain and Anna Kashfi, a new name to remember, is very capable—as well as attractive—as a spirited Korean native. The film is slowly-moving at times, but the action sequences and the brief moments of quiet, amusing humor add up to a worthwhile family show.

Full of Life (Mar. 13-16) really lives up to its title, and then some. Cinematic Judy Holiday heads the proceedings, which is enough to indicate the weakness of the film without adding anything more. But Judy is much more worky in this picture about prospective parents and their housing and in-law problems—she is articulate and touching as well as winning and funny. It proves her finest screen role to date, this somewhat thin story that doesn't need much plot because of the quantity of delightful vignettes. And Princetonians are bound to enjoy the refreshing, tasteful and welcome adult approach to impending parenthood, foreign parents and religion. Here is very funny dialogue, presented in warm, human fashion. Richard Conte does well as Miss Holiday's harassed hubby, but the big surprise of the show is Salvatore Baccaloni, a noted singer from the Metropolitan Opera who makes his memorable movie debut as Judy's changeable but lovable father-in-law.

THE GARDEN

The Gold of Naples (Mar. 7-9), in Italian with English titles, is the real stuff, not the foot's variety. It actually contains four different tales, filmed on the streets of Naples, and features such established Italian personalities as Toto, Squalo, Loren, Vittorio De Sica and Silvana Mangano. Their performances are top-grade. Recommending the import, Cue magazine notes: "Alternately serio-comic, hilarious, dramatic, bitter-sweet, ironic . . . with photographic beauty, realism, dramatic color, excitement and lively Neapolitan music."

The Great Man (Mar. 11-16) brings Jose Ferrer back to Princeton in a film that emphasizes his artistic versatility. He gives one of the finest performances of his Academy Award-winning career, as a radio-TV commentator who exposes a hypocritical idol of millions after the "great man's" death, and he also excels as director and collaborator on the adult, nit-racy, realistic screenplay. Done in black-and-white for greater dramatic effect, this powerfully constructed picture receives tremendous help from a lineup of stimulating supporting actors in an assortment of vignette roles. Dean Jagger is superb as a conniving broadcasting company head. Keenan Wynn outshines himself as a disgusted small-time station owner and other outstanding jobs are contributed by Julie London, Jan Backus, Russ Morgan, John Gilbert and, surprisingly but happily, comedian Ed Wynn.

Dr. Coleman is a practicing physician and surgeon, specializing in ear, nose and throat diseases. His interest in preparing children for such operations as having their tonsils removed arose when he found that the fears children experience frequently have resulted in lifelong neuroses.

A recognized authority in the field of psychosomatics, Dr. Coleman has written extensively on various phases of medicine and is executive producer of the national television series, "Here's to your health," sponsored by the N. Y. Medical Society.

Mrs. Bolton Pritchard is chairman of the program, and the third grade room mothers, Mrs. Edward Diekey, Mrs. Felix Crimino, Mrs. Philip Wainford, Mrs. John Finley and Ms. William Applegate, will serve as hostesses. The sisters and teachers will be in their classrooms at 7. Tickets for the PTA communion breakfast on April 7 will be available at the meeting.

School Official to Speak. The Borough Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association has invited a leading state education authority to address its meeting Tuesday at 8 at the Quarry School at 5.

Question of the Week

Question: How do you think Princeton club weekends stand out in any way above weekends at other schools?

Location: Prospect Street undergraduate eating clubs.

Perry Ann Hugill, a junior at Finch College, New York: Yes. There are men at Princeton, boys at Yale, Dial Lodge is my pride and joy. I've been to weekends at Yale, Cornell, Annapolis, Haverford and Dartmouth, but Princeton is my favorite. I like the club system. I look forward to Princeton weekends the whole week before. Both "on" and "off" weekends are fun here, while at other schools the "off" weekends are dead.

Deborah Anne Jones, a sophomore at Hood College, Maryland: Yes. I think you have better facilities in the clubs. Your clubs are more elaborate than fraternities I've been to. Although the clubs lack the rah-rah drinking songs of the Greek-letter fraternities, I think there is a great deal more tradition and that's what appeals to me. And I love the after-dinner coffee at Campus Club.

Penny Muller, a junior at Wellesley College, Massachusetts: Yes. In the first place, I like the atmosphere. Every time I've been to Harvard it has rained or snowed. Yale's not so high in my estimation either. Once, when I was at Yale for a weekend, my date's roommate talked about free love the whole time I was there and I got a poor impression. At Princeton you can go to a club and everybody seems so close. Princeton doesn't have many big weekends and therefore they make a great effort and do everything right. The only thing I don't like about Princeton is that it's too far from the ski slopes and hasn't got much of a hockey team. Even when Princeton men are rowdy they're funny.

Amber DeForest, sophomore at Texas State College for Women: Yes, definitely yes. I'm impressed with the non-conformity of dress among the people here when they go to dances and parties. Also with the different ways people act, talk—and drink, or don't drink. People just seem to do what they want to. It's somewhat like that at other places, but it seems more so here than in Texas. At fraternities down there you stay in one place the whole evening. Here we go from place to place.

Carolyn Gracey, Julliard School of Music, New York: Very definitely. They're the greatest. It's heaven when you are pinned to one of the boys here. The most outstanding characteristic is the men. Yale men are curmudgeon. Columbia men are three-toed sloths. I hate fraternities. Campus Club is a pretty swinging place.

Gail Scott, high school senior, Jersey City: Yes. I like the club life. It's just like home. It's not formal and you can do just what you want to do. Princeton stands out above other schools I've visited. After all, it's the Ivy League. Last year, I was here when my date was not in a club and there it's MONEY in your pocket to read the advertisements in TOWN TOPICS From the classifieds to the many special buys listed each week in the display advertisements, savings are yours if you know what is being offered this week.

The stolen-car case became a case sometime between 9 p.m. and 1:45 a.m. Saturday night, when the vehicle's owner, John Vandenberg, 548 Prospekt Avenue, was visiting friends at 179½ Jefferson Road. With keys in the ignition, Mr. Vandenberg's 1954 Ford station wagon was parked on an easy mark. The following afternoon, it was equally easy for State Police to spot it along the Cranbury Road, abandoned and a total wreck after being turned over several times.

and Black entries is likely to undergo a sharp reversal of form before another 12 months has passed. The material to win Ivy titles in the seven indoor sports just isn't there.

This season, for example, Princeton's lone claim to a crown in Ivy competition is a three-way tie for first with Yale and Harvard in squash. This is based on the expectation that Cornell's unbeaten wrestling team will retain that status in its match with the Tigers Saturday at Ithaca and that the track team won't be among the contenders for the Heptagonal title on March 16, also at Ithaca.

The basketball team will have to finish with a victory over Penn Saturday at 8 in Dillon Gym to be assured of at least a share of fourth place. The fencers trail Columbia and Yale, the swimmers are deep in second division for the first time in years and the hockey team went into its final game of the season with Harvard firmly lodged in a last-place tie with Brown.

Quintet Drops Two. After regaining form against Brown and Yale, it was somewhat surprising that the Tiger basketball team should lose on its own floor in such convincing fashion to Harvard. No other team in the circuit save the last-place Cornell has been beaten by the run-of-the-mill Princeton twice this season, but the Tigers added a 65-56 loss last week to the 70-55 defeat they had absorbed earlier in the month at Cambridge. It was the fact that Harvard won while playing a fair amount of none-too-dazzling basketball that showed Princetonnians how much improvement is necessary if the team is to be a serious title contender next season.

The Crimson led most of the way, enjoying a 29-25 margin at half-time, being parried to 54-53 with four minutes left and then dropping in a dozen points before the buzzer sounded while holding the ineffective losers to three. Carl Boz was high with 17 points and grabbed 21 of the Tigers' 40 rebounds.

At Harvard, Princeton went back to the man-for-man defense against Dartmouth, benched Walt Blankley and Art Klein (who had won starting roles against Harvard) and trailed Dartmouth throughout most of the game. It was 40-31 for the Indians at the intermission, but the Tigers twice came within a point (65-61 and 72-71) before losing, 72-74. It wasn't quite as close as it sounds, since the Green had a three-point lead in the final minute and Ken MacKenzie's layup that closed the gap to within a point came with only 15 seconds left. Dartmouth kept possession thereafter until the buzzer sounded.

Don Davidson got 24 points at Hanover for his best performance of the season, and all five starters were in double figures. Carl Boz added 12 to the 17 he recorded against Harvard, bringing his total to 341 in his first year on the varsity. He needed only nine in the Columbia game Wednesday night to become the highest scoring sophomore in Princeton basketball history.

The league season reaches its climax this weekend, with both of the current leaders on the road. Yale played at Penn Wednesday night and will be at Harvard Saturday, with the Crimson a possible bet to upset the title-contending Elis. Dartmouth goes to Cambridge Thursday and Cornell Saturday.

Hockey Team Loses Two More. A 3-0 defeat at the hands of a Brown team it had beaten, 3-2, at Providence and a 5-4 loss to Dartmouth rocketed the hockey team on the road to a 2-17 won-lost record. Brown's whitewash job on the Tigers, first they have suffered all season, snapped a six-game losing streak for the Rhode Islanders.

The Orange and Black had leads of 2-0 and 3-1 over Dartmouth before Saturday's Junior Prom crowd of 1,500 but could not hold its advantage. Repeated scoring opportunities were lost (one three-on-one break did not even produce a shot that required a save) and defensive lapses led to three of the victims' goals.

It was 4-11 with eight minutes to go and the visitors had a man in the penalty box when they broke the deadlock. The Dartmouth goal was made possible because one Princeton defenseman bumped into another, taking him out of the play and allowing the Indians' Rod Anderson to skate in on goalie Dave Robinson alone.

Other Sports. Princeton's wrestlers came from behind to top Yale, 14-12, and take the Big Three title. The swimmers and the fencers were victims of the Elis, however, the former by 66-20 and the latter by 15-12. The Blue set a world record in winning the 410-yard freestyle relay, covering the distance in 3:16.1. Princeton's all-time mark for the distance is 3:22.5. The dis-

THE "ALMOST" TEAM

Nine of 13 Returning Princeton High's 1957 basketball team, which closed out its season Monday with the total loss of a 50-50 9-10 record, might well be remembered as the "almost" team. It wasn't quite as close to record indicates. In the words of Coach Tony Borzak, following defeat in the finale, "We were ahead in the third quarter in seven out of the 10 games we dropped, then somehow ran out of gas. They were games that could have gone either way."

While disappointed — but definitely not dismayed — Borzak looked fondly toward next fall and the 1958 campaign, when the Little Tigers should develop the necessary "staying power" and, by the law of averages, ought to win their full share of the close ones. Nine members of this year's 13-man varsity squad will be back to live up to Borzak's hopes, including leading scorer Alan Ammerman, speedy forward George Wilson, center Steve Hogarty and lanky prospects Bill Gallant and Bruce Larson. Also, there will be a couple of good bets from the 50-50 jayvee club, which posted the same '57 mark—9-10.

Against Trenton High on Monday, PHS started beautifully, just as it had managed last Friday night's romp over Hightstown's Rams and just as it had finished its earlier contest with Trenton, a one-point setback that Princeton "almost" pulled out. This time, the Little Tigers raced to a 17-16 first-period lead and then performed so smoothly in the second session that their 30-23 halftime margin appeared secure. Ammerman tallied nine big points in the opening quarter, Captain Dick Berger was playing his best brand of ball and all seemed well with the world.

But, after intermission, the bubble popped. The Tornadoes began to break through—instead of relying on outside shots as they had in the first half—and the Little Tigers couldn't get rolling again. Wilson, whose inability to score in the first and second periods was considered a temporary plight, never connected all evening. Ammerman missed foul shots that might have made a difference, and the whole PHS machine bogged down. Trenton, the home quarter, tied the game at 43-43, moved in front, 47-46, at the end of three quarters, and, finally, turned on the heat in the last eight minutes for a final 67-53 decision.

For three periods, a crowd of 300—dominated by Princeton supporters in spite of the location and the fact that PHS, a tournament team, now has a 15-7 record—cheered the spirited Little Tigers, who forgot the victory's height advantage and overall edge. They cheered Captain Berger, who completed his scholar-leader career with a pace-setting 17-point output, and they cheered Ammerman, who contributed 16. Hogarty also hit double figures with 12. Nick Kovalakides, PHS' senior strongman, went the distance in his last effort, the only player to do so.

Last Friday, Hightstown took an unexpected 15-13 lead for a few moments in the first quarter, then PHS commenced clicking for a 29-17 halftime margin and an eventual 66-38 triumph. Ammerman sparked the Little Tigers with 26 points, which, Trenton, gave him a 19-game campaign aggregate of 446, or 23.5 per outing. Berger added 17 markers, giving him runner-up honors of 346 points in 18 contests, or 19.2 per.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Hockey Team Wins. While most Princeton collegiate and scholastic athletic combinations were achieving mediocre results this winter, the junior and senior divisions of the Princeton Hockey Club were busy posting winning seasons. The juniors, who still hope to play several more out-of-town matches, won six, tied one and lost none during the regular campaign, while the seniors dropped their opener and never lost again in almost a dozen contests.

A week ago, the junior section closed out its home schedule with a convincing 6-1 victory over an outclassed Chestnut Hill Hockey Club. Dick Kenarney and Barry Dickinson were the big guns with a pair of goals each. On Sunday evening, the seniors played their most exciting game of the winter, succeeding in the last two minutes by a 7-6 count over Short Hills.

Commenting on the season, a parent spokesman for the junior group said he felt the young skaters showed much improvement during the course of the campaign, making it once again an extremely worthwhile program. He admitted that bad weather kept prospective opponents from attaining good condition in time for early-season games and raised postponement of later matches, but spirit remained high and results were significant. New personnel will be required to continue the program next year, he added.

PCO Unbeaten in Hockey. A well-deserved 2-0 triumph over the Lawrenceville jayvees gave Princeton Country Day School's hockey team a fine 9-0 record for the 1957 season. Dave Kelley and Billy Morris scored the goals that kept the Blue and White unbeaten last Thursday, while Joe Wright and Staffy Keegan shared goal-tending honors in the shutout.

The Country Day basketball team won its fifth of the season Monday when it romped over Hopewell, 52 to 9. Fourth former Charlie Stuart was high for the victors with 16 points. A game against Cranbury this Thursday afternoon is the last on the schedule.

ONE WAY TO GO: UP

Hun Sees Improvement. Back on December 10, when the Hun School basketball team lost its season's opener to Delbarton, Dick Wentworth, the Red & Black's new coach, predicted better days ahead and said he would be delighted with a .500 campaign (as opposed to 5-8 the previous year). This week, following the Johnny Adams' defeat in their final outing of the campaign, Wentworth admitted he was disappointed in the miserable 2-13 record compiled by —Continued on Page 20

What's it like to spend the better part of a week in a 1957 Cadillac?

Well, first of all, there is the restfulness a Cadillac provides. The car is so incredibly smooth and quiet and comfortable that even the longest journey is an occasion for glorious relaxation.

And for the lucky gentleman in the driver's seat, there is the added reward of Cadillac's brilliant new performance.

In fact, the car is so nimble and eager, so responsive and alert that day's end will usually

And then there will be the many other Cadillac virtues to enhance the pleasure of their journey...

... its vast areas of vision to give them the full panorama of America's great beauty and grandeur

... its extraordinary safety and dependability to add to their contentment and peace of mind

... and its remarkable operating economy to remind them how practical their odyssey is.

So there they are—seeing our wonderful land from the finest vantage point on the American road: through the windshield of a 1957 Cadillac

Of course, you don't have to travel 3,000 miles in this newest "car of cars" to realize why its owners call it "the greatest of all Cadillacs".

his youngsters—but, with undying enthusiasm, he again predicted better days ahead.

More than the enthusiasm of a man with a mission influenced the latest prediction by Wentworth, a Seminary student who probably will get another chance to improve Huns' case stock. He knew that his entire first-string quintet, and substitute No. 1 and No. 2, will return for the 1957-58 season, barring academic difficulties. Of equal importance, he realized that another year's growth and development will mean a great deal in the overall performance of his club.

Against Solebury last week, Huns was beaten badly, 52-35, for its 13th setback in 15 starts. Foote collected 11 points and Barron nipped to pace the losers, but their combined total didn't even match a 25-point effort by a great schoolboy star who hopes to do his future shooting at Princeton University. Cromwell seemed to hit everything he attempted a fast-break lay-up as he upped his five's record to 8-10.

Actually, the Rek & Black was scheduled to complete the current season at home against Croyden Hall last Friday, but the game was canceled to permit the visitors to be held in the University's Dillon Pool Saturday. The morning session will start at 10, with the first to begin at 1:45.

Columbia High School of Maplewood is the defending champion, with Trenton High the runner-up for the past two seasons. Princeton High School will not be represented in the meet.

BOWLING NOTES

After a seven-day stay in second place, Princeton Engine Company No. 1 shot back into the leader's position in the exciting Tri-County Firemen's League this past week, with Belle Street falling again to the runner-up slot and the rest of the loop remaining intact. . . Here's how they stand at the beginning of March: Princeton No. 1 (104 points), Belle Mead (102), Kingston (96), Blawieburg (80), Princeton Junction (76), Rocky Hill (72), Hook & Laddler (67), Lawrenceville (61), Monmouth Junction and Mercer No. 3 (61 each), Dutch Neck (59) and K.F.D. (58). . . Elmer McHugh paced the individual firemen with a red-hot 235 game, followed by John Donahon, 225-200, Big Davidson, 214, Elmer Van Marter, 212, Ben Salvatore, 208, and Wes Holman, 203.

Back from tournament wars, Joe Baldino flashed his excellent form in loop competition at Princeton Recreation Center, posting a 622 series (215-187-220) to lead the Major League's bowlers.

In the alley square with Baldino were Jim Lewis, another tourney vet, 223, George Laird, still another refugee from tournament play, 211, Bill Kiefer, 205, Jack Cooper, 204, Bill Flack, 203, Joe Perpetua and Al Huhner, 202 apiece, and Jim Fuelbair, 200. . . The Major standings: Decker's Dairy and Future's Market, 28 points each; Blatt's and Tiger Garage, 24 apiece, Key Shop, 22, and West Windsor, 0. . . In the Princeton "B" League the National Guardsmen picked up ground on Belle Lumber and Jefferson Plumbing, still deadlocked for first place, as Jack Petrone, Nally Meyer and Baldino rolled games of 220, 214 and 200, respectively. . . The "B" standings: Belle and Jefferson, 28 apiece, Nally Guard, 26, Maul Electric, 20, Tiger Bus and Titus Motors, 18 each, GRC, Cifelli Electric and the Flansburg Lums, 16 apiece, and the Jokers, 12.

No one managed to register a 200-plus game in Princeton "A" League play, Will Dunable's 199 being the closest thing to it, but dogfights for the loop's various positions continued, with Tiger Garage bouncing back into first place over Sunbeam and Grover Lumber and Yeoman's moving in to a three-way third-berth tie with Food Tech. . . The "A" standings: Tiger Garage, 66, Sunbeam, 64, Grover Lumber, Yeoman's and Food Tech, 40 apiece, Nassau Oil No. 2, 36, Bogert Motors, 32, and Nassau Oil No. 1, 30. . . In the Industrial League, Fred Lehnert's 206 game aided the Nassau Del in its runaway hold on first place, while Walt Wengryn's 203 game was one of the few bright moments for seventh-place Wengryn Construction. . . The Industrial standings: Nassau Del, 66, Glenmoor, 52, Gable Tavern, 42, Nassau Service, 40, Dayton, 35, Pioneers, 30, Wengryn Construction, 28, and Reformers, 27.

Betty Jane Harris set a sizzling pace in the Princeton Women's Bowling League, recording a fine 213 game, as the other distaff leaders followed in this order: Sara Rose, 199-156, Lillian Burroughs, 189-171-153, Carol Tammasi, 187, Marilyn Lowe, 173-167, and Barbara Danser, 173-160. . . The PWBL standings: Cranbury Pharmacy, 38, Betty Wright Shop and Castoro CMC, 36 apiece, Pin Pushers, 32, Dayton V. 30, Bermudians, 28, Emens & McVaugh, Cranbury Bank and Misslets, 26 each, Ten Pins, 24, Mixers, 20, and the Industrial League, Decker's Dairy continued its winning ways, reaching a total of 50 points, as the rest of the loop shaped up like this: Nassau Service, 38, First National Bank, 31, Cifelli Electric, 29, Conover Motor Co., 28, West Windsor Lions, 26, Thorne's Drugs, 24, and Turney Motors, 22. . . Individually, Betty Cooper rolled a 192, Julia Marcoline, 179, Carol Tammasi and Betty Snyder, 172 apiece, and Peg Brown, 171.

This Custom-Built House for only $9650*?

SURE...and look what you get!

The 3-Bedroom BALMORAL

Designed for maximum flexibility in furniture arrangement with raised picture window in the large living room, and high screened windows in the 3 bedrooms.

- Q. Are your Designed for Living houses pre-fab or pre-cut?
A. Absolutely not! They're conventionally constructed of finest materials obtainable; planned and built by our own skilled craftsmen.
- Q. What makes your building plan unique? Your houses so low-priced?
A. We design and build houses ONLY—do not invest in real estate. Therefore, we're able to effect sizeable savings.
- Q. Then I need my own lot?
A. That's right. And, in most cases, you can save even more by arranging to put in your foundation, and take care of the painting yourself.
- Q. Why do I get more value in a Designed for Living house?
A. We use nothing but West Coast fir in the finest construction grade for framing, and the interior trim is completely stainable; American-Standard heating and plumbing, finest cast iron tubs and copper water lines go into every house. All are insulated with U.S. Gypsum Wool; and the wall sheathing is full 1/4" tongue and groove construction for extra protection.
- Q. What other extras are included in the price?
A. You get a 1957 Hotpoint Deluxe Kitchen including a Dutch oven with built-in rotisserie, and a burner-top range. There's Armstrong inlaid linoleum; and such luxury details as Liriolet light fixtures, Schlage hardware, colored tile baths, and Yorktown kitchen cabinets.
- Q. How much do your other houses cost?
A. The general price range of our houses is $6000 to $35,000—but some are considerably higher.
- Q. How are these houses financed?
A. With a mortgage obtained from an insurance company, a savings and loan association, or from your local bank. Our continuing association with lending institutions of this kind is another demonstration of Designed for Living's reputation.
- Q. What are the terms?
A. A low down-payment, with up to 25 years to pay off the low-interest mortgage.
- Q. How does this compare with many advertised payment plans?
A. Don't confuse ours with questionable no-down-payment short term mortgage plans that look like deceptively "easy terms"—but are actually very costly.
- Q. Anything more I should know?
A. Yes—we give you a written contract guaranteeing the price, materials, and workmanship. It is your guarantee of receiving fullest value.
- Q. Where can I see these houses?
A. Outstanding examples of Designed for Living houses are on exhibit at either of our two locations below every weekday and Sunday till 9 P.M.; and Saturday till 5 P.M. Or we will be glad to refer you to any of our hundreds of satisfied customers.

And remember, Designed for Living also has a program whereby you may buy your house in any degree of completion from shell to partial completion.

THE 3-BEDROOM COURTNEY

$16,775*

Separate bath and dressing room adjoin master bedroom; second bath handy to other bedrooms. Wide roof overhang protects and shades indoors from sun's glare.

*When you buy the lot, arrange to put in your foundation and take care of the painting.
